

1. Fold the Artifacts Related to Liberation handout in half, so that you can only see the images. Choose one artifact to observe and record your thoughts below.

SEE	THINK	WONDER
What do you SEE? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• What do you notice about the artifact(s)?</li> <li>• What is their use or function?</li> <li>• What condition are they in?</li> <li>• Are there any markings on them?</li> </ul>	What do you THINK? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• How might the survivor have acquired the item(s)?</li> <li>• How might they have been used?</li> <li>• What might have been the significance or importance of them at the time of liberation?</li> </ul>	What do you WONDER? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Note at least one question you have about the artifact.</li> <li>• Note at least one question you have about the artifact's owner.</li> </ul>

2. Unfold the handout and read the text that accompanies the artifact you chose. Discuss your reactions and the questions below with your group.
  - What is the relationship between the artifact and the condition survivors were in following liberation? (Think about the testimonies of Charlotte Chaney and Haim Kuznitsky.)
  - How did the artifact(s) help to restore humanity to their owner?
