I HAVE TRANSLATED MANY DOCUMENTS IN DIFFERENT LANGUAGES TO

SEVERAL DANISH COMPAGNIES

EDUCATION AND TRAINING:

(2004) Web designer, FutureCom, Aarhus, Denmark

(2003) Project Manager, Soft Advice, Aarhus, Denmark

(1987-1991) PhD GeoScience, Aarhus University, Denmark

Project title: Ammonium pools in marine sediments

(1986-1987) MSc Biotechnology, The Technical University of Denmark, Lyngby

Project title: Evaluation of kinetic parameters for mixed cultures of methanothrix soehngenii and their test ability to the performance of a packet-bed tubular reactor

(1977-1982) MSc Biology, the Classical University of Lisbon, Portugal

Project title: Chemical and biological aspects of biogas production

(Good w/ Distinction)

Activities:

(2008-) Project Consultant for the Administrations Society Sprout ApS, Denmark.
Major activity is teaching portuguese, and consultant works related to wind power plants in Southern Europe and Brazil

(2003) Coordinator of Biogeochemistry Group, IFREMER, France
Project title: Nutrient interaction on the rheological properties of fluid-mud.
Countries: Poland, France, Denmark, Portugal
TASKS: Planning of project, execution and writing

(2003-2005) Participant in a EU-INTAS Project, Finland (most on freely basis)
Project title: The importance of sediments for the water quality of the Gulf of Finland
Project's major objective is the communication of the environmental consequences of results to concerned decision-makers and the transfer of technology to Russian Environmental Protection Agencies.
Countries: Sweden, Finland, Russia, Denmark
SPECIFIC TASKS: Participation in cruises for data collection and writing

(1999-2002) Coordinator of Biogeochemistry Group, CNRS, France
Project title: Biogeochemical processes in intertidal mudflats of SW France
Countries: France, Poland, Denmark, Portugal
TASKS: Planning of project, execution and writing

(1996-1998) Research Associate, University of Aarhus, Denmark
Project title: Baltic Sea System Study (BASYS), subproj. 3a: Coastal to Basin Fluxes
Countries: ALL countries around the Baltic Region
TASKS: Participation in cruises for data collection, presentation of datasets in interim reports and writing of articles

(1997) Coordinator of Biogeochemistry Group, Convention No 96/RPC-R 115 between la Région Poitou-Charentes and the CNRS, France
Project title: Ammonium turnover in sedimentary structures of Marennes-Oléron Bay
Countries: France, Denmark and Portugal
TASKS: Planning of project, execution and writing

Publications:

Author and Co-author of 27 peer-reviewed international scientific articles (English), and popular articles

My background is Biology, M Sc. in Biotechnological Engineering a Ph D in Environmental Science.

Research work has been focused on eutrophication processes in coastal areas: I have contributed to scientific work (over 30 international peer-reviewed articles and other works) shown in conferences and workshops in Denmark, Sweden, Poland, France, Argentina, Lithuania, Norway, Portugal, Germany, Japan, South Korea and USA.

I have experience to plan, execute, synthesize and communicate scientific knowledge to specialists and other end-users. I have coordinated and participated in inter-disciplinary projects in multi-national environments, in which my experience with several languages [Portuguese, Scandinavian Danish), English, French, and Spanish] has been beneficiary, along with years of teaching experience outside my country (Portugal).

I consider myself to be a team-worker, creative and highly motivated to collaborate. I have sense of organization and I am strict in deadlines.

Though my research activity in EU projects for over a decade, and coordination of some, I have gained experience in multicultural environments and communicate knowledge to different end-users, not only people specialized in the field. Command of several languages, and translation of a number of projects, are in support of my activity as freelancer translator.

Workshops, Seminars and Congresses:

I have scientific results shown in Denmark, France, Lithuania, Portugal, Sweden, Norway, Poland, Germany, Argentina and Japan

TEACHING:

(2000-2002) Freely basis
Lectures in Marine Geology, University of Aarhus
The hydrochemical cycle – component estuaries

(1992-1997) Assistant Professor, University of Évora, Portugal
Tasks: Teaching Microbiology and Soil Biology, coordination of research projects
(1992-1993) Project title: Effects of interaction between eutrophication and major environmental factors on the ecosystem stability of reed vegetation in European land-water ecotones- (EU-EUREED)
Countries: UK, Denmark, Germany, Netherlands, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Portugal
TASKS: Regional Scientific Coordinator for Portugal

(1984-1992) Assistant, University of Évora, Portugal
TASKS: Teacher of Microbiology

SOCIAL SKILLS:

I enjoy life in multicultural environments.
I am fond of photography and aquatic sports such as surf/ diving/swimming. I swim 8-10 km per week

ORGANISATIONAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES

- Good background in environmental information (statistics, environmental monitoring and data analysis)
- Experience with technical and scientific languages
- Experience in project management and working with a variety of international institutions
- Good organizational and co-ordination skills
- Good writing and communication skills.

Organizational skills were gained through years of teaching activity, coordination/participation in both national and international environmental projects, and contacts with business people where the use of multiple languages has been beneficial. I consider myself an expert of data synthesis, presentation of data and reports and communication to specialists as well as to other end users.
